

Update: The 75th Australian Jazz Convention

Our major sponsors are the Commercial Club, Albury and the City of Albury as the Australian Jazz Convention celebrates 75 years of showcasing Australia's vibrant jazz scene.

Against a backdrop of Albury's diverse and intriguing scenery, the city that is 'Home to the Murray River' will become the home to Australian Jazz this December for the second year in a row.

The 75th Australian Jazz Convention (AJC) brings together the very best of Australia's jazz musicians and enthusiasts for a week of music and festivities. Together, the Executive Task Force and the City of Albury have been diligently planning and organising a warm and welcoming atmosphere for Conventioneers travelling from all over Australia and even overseas.

Following Covid-19 Social Distancing Restrictions, the Executive Task Force is endeavouring to cater for the safety and enjoyment of this year's conventioneers, which, for example, may take the form of venue capacity limits using a 'per square metre' rule.

Multiple venues will be opening their doors to the AJC Music Programs throughout the Convention and will all be within easy walking distance to one another. In particular, the Executive Task Force has worked to create special arrangements with the Commercial Club, Albury as proud sponsors to host the Convention's two largest events, namely the 75th AJC Opening Night, and the New Year's Eve Closing Function.

Tickets must be purchased in order to attend either or both of these events.

Dennis Quinlan, Treasurer of the AJC Executive Task Force, stated that a ticketing system should help to provide a Covid safe and welcoming experience "in the interests of all parties....on a first in, best dressed basis" due to the number restrictions imposed by the NSW government.

Tickets for the 75th Australian Jazz Convention are now available to purchase via TryBooking – so get in fast to ensure you don't miss out!
